BELLEFONTE, PA.,

Wednesday Morning, August 16, 1871.

THE attention of Dr. Brown, of the Republican, is called to the report of Secretary Boutwell, of the Treasury, giving the amount of the defalcations of Radical Internal Revenue Collectors not now in office. The sum they have stolen from the tax-payers is only $20,700,933,33. Will Dr. Brown publish this in the Republican's—Democratic Watchman.

We published an article three weeks since which satisfactorilly explained your question and the whole subject in discussion. We now for the benefit of the Watchman publish the following statements:

INTERNAL REVENUE TAX—ITS COLLECTION IN PENNSYLVANIA—A GOOD SHOWING FOR THE EX-COLLECTORS OF THIS STATE—THEIR DELINQUENCIES AS GIVEN BY THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASDRY—AN IMPORTANT STATEMENT.

WASHINGTON, August 10.—Secretary Boutwell has written the following letter in reply to one from Senator Scott, asking for information about the accounts of ex-internal revenue collectors in the State of Pennsylvania:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, August 9.

Hon. John Scott, Huntingdon, Pa.:

SIR: In compliance with your request I transmit herewith a statement showing the cash balances due the United States, June 30, 1871, from ex-collectors of internal revenue in Pennsylvania who were out of office on the 30th of June, 1870. In connection therewith I would invite your attention to the enclosed copy of a letter from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, and, also, to the following extract from a letter of the First Comptroller, under date of February 18, 1871, in reply to a resolution of the House of Representatives of the 13th December, 1870, transmitting statement of balances due June 30, 1870. The balances and payments as shown by this statement are those which appear by accounts adjusted, but in many of them I have no doubt the balances will wholly or in part disappear when future reports and vouchers shall have been transmitted to the Auditor and been acted upon. In a large proportion of the cases the balances against collectors consist of tax lists charged to them, but turned over to their successors in office. Under the existing law the accounting officers cannot credit an outgoing collector with lists so turned over unless the Commissioner of Internal Revenue shall certify that such outgoing collector has used due diligence. In the absence of such certificate, the accounting officer cannot credit collectors with taxes turned over to their successors; and in almost every case a collector must appear to be in arrears, though nothing be due from him until the required certificates shall have been supplied.

Very respectfully,
R. W. TAYLOR, Comptroller.

I am, very respectfully,
GEORGE S. BOUTWELL, Sec. Treas'y.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE INTERNAL REVENUE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 29, 1871.

Hon. R. W. Taylor, Comptroller:

SIR: I enclose a statement showing the cash balances due from the late collectors of internal revenue named therein, on June 26, 1871—clasified, defalcations, and unadjusted. The first heading is intended to show those cases where no satisfactory explanation of deficit has been received; the second the cases where, from correspondence and other sources, it seemed probable that a final adjustment would account for the deficit.

Very respectfully,
A. J. PLEASONTON, Commissioner.

The amount of internal revenue tax collected in Pennsylvania is about one hundred and sixty millions of dollars.

It will be observed that in the First, Sixth, Seventh, Ninth, Tenth, Twelfth, Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth, Twentieth, Twenty-first, and Twenty-second districts, which comprise some of the heaviest collection sections in the State, the United States has not owing to it a single dollar. On the contrary, the Government owes money to the collectors of these districts in some instances, and has already refunded to many of them.

THE COLLECTIONS IN VIRGINIA FOR TWENTY-NINE MONTHS.

WASHINGTON, August 10.—Supervisor Presbury, of Virginia, submits to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue the following statement of revenue collections from March 1, 1869, to June 40, 1871, twenty-nine months: From tobacco, $9,270,041. Total collections for the fiscal years 1866, 1867 and 1868, and eight months of 1869, forty-four months in all, $1,473,824; excess for twenty-nine months, $7,797,117.

In addition to the above there has been shipped since March 1, 1869, 43,303,029 pounds of manufactured tobacco in bond, on the tax of $13,866,956 has in large part been collected on withdrawal of the tobacco for consumption; total collection for the fiscal year 1867, $174,577; do., 1868, $191,397. It will be seen that the collections for July, 1868, were more than the collections of either of the fiscal years named.

THE RECEIPTS YESTERDAY.

The receipts for internal revenue today amounted to the sum of $349,500.

TAXES.

The Watchman continues to talk of heavy taxes imposed upon the country by the Republican party. He has not the fairness or honesty to tell his readers, that every dollar of debt and every dollar of revenue tax assessed by the National Administration to pay off that debt is all the work of the Democratic party. That party rebelled against the Government. The debt was made to put down the Democratic rebellion and save the Government. It was the Democrats who trampled upon the American Flag. It was Democrats who fired upon Fort Sumpter. It was Democrats, just such Democrats as Meek, by their incessant fire in the rear of the Union Army that prolonged the war. He is a pretty bird to talk about taxes.

No, Mr. Meek, for every dollar of debt, for every dollar of Revenue tax the people have to pay, you and your Democratic brethren—the rebels of the South are responsible. The people understand this. They are not dumb as you imagine they are. They can reason from cause to effect.

What have you to say Mr. Meek, about the taxes of New York—the millions of money out of which, the people of that city—Democracy cursed city, have been swindled?

Why do you not tell your readers how the people of New York city are taxed where the Democrats have been in power so long that the memory of man runneth not to the contrary?

If they cannot govern a city without usurpation, exhorbitant taxation and riotous mobs, how can they govern a great and free nation?

Will you, Mr. Meek, after having published the New York Times' articles exposing how the tax payers of New York are swindled by the Tammany ring out of millions of dollars, please turn your attention to Centre county and honestly tell your readers how they are being swindled by the Court House Ring?

And will you, please do, Mr. Meek, explain to us and your readers why the county tax continues at six mills to the dollar, when you declare the county is not in debt?

THE JEHU OF CENTRE COUNTY.

We would call the attention of the Democrats of Centre county to the striking resemblance between the Jehu of whom we read in II Kings, chapters IX and X, and our Centre county Jehu Hon. P. G. Meek. The first, was anointed King, slew the Kings of Juda, slew the house of Ahab, about 70 sons, slew the worshippers of Baal, &c. He wrote letters, see chapter X, verse 1st, and sent them to Samaria. Jehu the second, of Centre county, was anointed with oil in Harrisburg, not by Elisha the Prophet, but by James Burns, Sam Josephs & Co., comes home declares himself King, slew Capt. Hunter and all other aspirants, slew the worshippers of Baal—the new departurists, and then turned upon the house of Ahab (Orvis) wrote letters not to Samaria, but at Millheim, and there slew the children of Ahab (Orvis,) 73 in number. Is not the resemblance a striking one? You can carry it out reader as far as you please and then we ask, will not the end of this second Jehu be like unto that of the first? Selah.

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION.

In obedience to the call of the Chairman of the County Committee, the Democratic County Convention met in the Court House, at Bellefonte, on Tuesday, August the 8th inst., at 2 o'clock, P. M. Both the candidates and delegates presented evidences of the most intense excitement and anxity, while circulating through the town to and from the various Head Quarters of the rival candidates, eager to ascertain the reliable data of one another, and to put up the slate in a manner that would best inure to the interests, respectively of the great Figure Heads of the convention, Meek ond Orvis. There was evidently trouble in the camp and charges of fraud, corruption and even of forgery, were freely made. Some of the Delegates were really disgusted and demanded investigation. But of this I will speak further on.

The convention was called at the hour above named and an organization effected, apparently in the interest of Mr. Orvis—Hon. Jacob G. Meyer, an Orvis delegate having been elected chairman, and John Hoffer, Esq., being a Meek delegate, but really and at heart an Orvis man, elected Secretary.

Before proceding to the nomination of candidates the convention was visited with rather a stormy breeze, which seemed to unnerve and confuse the Honorable Chairman and came well nigh "busting up" the convention in the outset. The cause of the troubling of the calm and peaceful surface was the assertion, by Dr. Van Valzah, of Boalsburg, of the right of Harris township to FOUR delegates in the convention. The right was denied and opposed by those whose interest (Meek's) would be adversely affected by conceding the right. The Dr. argues his cause well and cited precedents in favor of it, and even went so far as manfully to assert the existence of a conspiracy. "This conspiracy" said he, "should be exposed," but here his voice was drowned, and the chairman became slightly muddled in relation to the matter, not being posted in local affairs. Just here the voice of Christ Keller, a Bellefonte merchant, who tried to beat John Moran, Esq., for the nomination for Prothonotary two years ago, and who intends to try it again the next time, being a little doubtful of the chairs decision, (fearing it would be in favor of Orvis,) sprang to his feet, cracked the party lash a la the old slave drivers of the South, wanting to know of Dr. Van Valzah whether he wanted to bust up the convention?

The chair not being very clear on the matter and a rumpus being threatened, both the chair and Dr. Van Valzah took the water. But they did not succeed, however, in making the Dr. retract his charges against the Bellefonte Ring, of fraud, corruption, conspiracy and "sich like."

A calm being restored, the balloting for legislative candidates commenced very spiritedly, ballots being cast for Meek, Orvis, Dr. Fisher and Dr. G. F. Hoop; Meek leading the list, when the doughty chairman hastily proclaimed Meek elected, which proved only to be a slight mistake. Notwithstanding the mistake Christ Keller anxious for Meek's success moved that his nomination be made unanimous. The motion was put but there were eight vociferous "noes." The result of the first ballot having been made known and a motion offered and carried to reconsider the vote, Meek stock went up, Orvis stock was on the corner and tolerably active; but not so lively as Meek stock and found fewer bidders, there was also less of it taken, which was most convincingly shown by the second ballot. The confusion that prevailed for a brief period after the first ballot, caused by candidates and their friends pulling wires and trying to manipulate delegates, having ceased, the second ballot for legislative candidates was taken in a lively manner, the result of which was Meek's nomination and the defeat of Orvis. This result fell upon Mr. Orvis and his friends like a clap of thunder from a clear sky. They were struck dumb with amazement and the face of poor Fred. Kurtz looked so long, that he could easily have eaten oats out of a churn. Mr. Orvis and his friends expected to win, and now they felt that they had been dishonestly defeated—defeated by fraud, forgery and corruption of the basest and most villainous kind.

Meek and his friends looked wise, winked knowingly, laughed in their sleaves, and sort of coolly walked out and cutely said, "come again. How is that for high? I knew that the Lytle, Chambers letter would fetch him."

The big contest of the day having been meekly determined the convention proceeded to ballot for the rest of the candidates, which resulted in putting in nomination the following named gentlemen. Associate Judges, Capt. Henry Dopp, of Howard, and Col. W. W. Love, of Potter. For Treasurer, James F. Weaver, of Milesburg. Commissioner, Samuel F. Foster, of Potter. District Attorney, John F. Potter, Esq., of Bellefonte. For Auditor, Robert F. Holmes, of Marion. For County Surveyor, Wm. P. Mitchell, of Howard.

There was some little contest for the nomination of Treasurer, no choice being made until the 11th ballot. A better man than Col. Weaver, could not have been nominated by the Democratic party for that office; but he is not quite good and pure enough to be a Republican. For this he is to be pitied. Dr. Dobbins held up well, but Yearick, aided slightly by the Ring "fetched" him. The Dr. was sold, without getting the price. Ingratitude what a friend thou art.

The contest for the District Attorneyship was a rather spirited one, and although Fortney was championed by good men of both parties and was actively supported by the Y. M. C. A. interest, yet he was sacrificed to the great Democratic Moloch, which has no respect for outside influence, christian or otherwise. Democratic politics never did like and always discards religious sympathy. It is a miracle that they even suffered poor Fortney to be Chairman of their County Committee.

The convention put in the field a very good ticket for the Democracy, but a better one for the Republicans, Meek's trickery and chicanery being of such a character, as to attack Orvis and put him on the defensive, proved too much for the legal ability and personal popularity of that gentleman and the zealous efforts of his numerous friends. In the face of all this foul play, letters said to be forged, and other evidences of villiany on the part of Mr. Meek, I am forced to ask you Col. Brown, why Orvis did not expose the whole thing and in the language of C. Keller, "Bust up" the convention? Has he any back-bone? Has he and his friends any respect for themselves, or the reputation of the Democratic party for honesty, for high and honorable dealing? Can you, will you, explain the Lytle-Chambers letter? Will Capt. Lytle explain? We want to know all about it. We must know all about it, or brand the Democracy as cowards and corruptionists—so far sunk in iniquity as to be unworthy the confidence or support of any highminded, honorable man.

The convention taken all together might be denominated an enthusiastic one, and succeeded in putting forth a Democratic ticket that is not much honor to it, is not any too satisfactory, and is illy calculated to heal the dissatisfaction which exists in that party. From the mutterings of discontent and dissatisfaction which come up from all parts of the county since the convention, I could, without being considered much of a prophet, predict a coming storm.

LOOKERON.

THE MANUFACTURER AND BUILDER.—The August number of this sterling periodical has been duly received. It presents its usual array of able and instructive articles, all of the highest practical use to the manufacturer and artisan. Among others are papers on "Workmen's Cottage;" "Paints made of Copper;" "Interesting Tests of Girders;" "Machinery and Machine-shops;" "Manufacture of Horn and Tortoise-Shell;" and one entitled "New Improvement on the Sunbeam," which practically as well as theoretically demonstrates the falsity of the theory, lately advanced by Gen. Pleasonton, of bringing animals and vegetable to rapid maturity by exposing them to solar rays passed through violet glass. This publication is one that no mechanic can do without. It avoids technicalities and deals in the practical in such a way as to be readable and interesting. Its cheapness places it within the reach of all, its subscription price being only $1,50 per year; besides which the publishers offer liberal premiums to those forming clubs. Published monthly by Weston & Co., No. 37 Park Row, New York.

THE New York thieves do it in this, one of their many ways: A business man, having a claim against New York city of $10,000, was unable to collect it until, after a significant intimation, he made out his bill for $64,000. He then promptly received his $10,000, the balance ($54,000) having been pocketed by the Tamany thieves. The Tribune gives the name and residence of the party engaged in this transaction.

DEMOCRACY UNSETTLED.

COL. BROWN:—

Dear Sir.—Our County Convention has met and done its work. It has put in the field a ticket, which fully evinces it was under the control of the Bellefonte Ring to a very great extent. And, as I stated in my last letter to you that the Ring had, or would triumph again this fall, the result shows it has and that the statements I made in relation to it were correct. The action of the convention also showed clearly that I was partially right at least, in my statements in regard to the apparent contest between Meek and Orvis, that it had almost silenced every other name mentioned in connection with the candidacy for the legislature. The names of Hoop and Fisher were submitted to the convention; but neither of them received enough votes to amount either to a compliment or respectable treatment from the hands of the convention. Although Pennsvalley was promised the treasurership; yet, the Ring finding it might not subserve its purposes quite so well to give it to us, thought it would swap the treasurer for Associate Judge; and hence gave all good Democratic Pennsvalley, an associate Judgeship. Col., the truth of my statement, in my communication, on Departure No. 2., that Pennsvalley, when it comes to sharing the patronage and loaves and fishes of the party, is always counted the small fry in the pan, but where it comes to electing we are flattered with being the big fish, is also corroborated by the action of the convention. And it will never be otherwise until we kick over the traces, and convince the Bellefonte Ring that Pennsvalley Democrats, have rights that the ring are bound to respect. Meek is nominated, a Ring candidate, and is our party leader in the coming campaign. His nomination so far as local interests are concerned, may be considered a triumph of broad gauge on the R. R., question. But what is it a triumph of, in regard to the great political question of the day? Is it the triumph of the New Departure, or is it a repudiation of the ninth resolution? He was nominated without being positively committed on this question, as he was on the railroad question. And, are we democrats of Pennsvalley, all opposed to the New Departure, bound to support him, notwithstanding what position he may see proper to take on the question? I say for one, and know that in doing so I speak the sentiment of a good many democrats of Centre county, that if the party with Meek as its leader, endorses the ninth resolution which is as follows: "Resolved, That we recognize the binding obligation of all the provisions of the constitution of the United States as they now exist, and we deprecate the discussion of issues which have been settled by the authority constitutionally appointed," and thus commits the party to the New Departure theory, which means Republicanism right, and Democracy wrong; the centralization of and enforcement of negro suffrage upon the States, in violation of States Rights; in short that democrats be Republicans in principle and policy, though still be Democrats in name, then I say again, I for one can't support Republicanism as a democrat, and will not as such support the new departure democracy. I always did, and do despise sailing under false colors, as every honest democrat ought and does. There I say let us Pennsvalley democrats toward whom the Ring have been so liberal in distributing the loaves and fishes of the party (Associate Judgship) prepare to take care of our own political interests, and enter our protest against being committed to a policy we can in nowise honestly and consistently accept, as Democrats. If we can do no better, I know we can fuse with the Republicans, which certainly would not be much disgrace, when we as a party, by the adoption of the ninth resolution, concede them to be right, in that way, and in no other will we be able to wring from the Ring our rights.

DEMOCRAT FROM POTTER.

PENNSVALLEY, August 11th, 1871.

THE temperance man who expects to aid his cause by running a distinctive temperance ticket will be most wofully disappointed after the election is over. There is but one sure way to aid all that is pure and good in connection with our government, and that is by voting so that the control thereof may remain in Republican hands. The flood of evil proceeds from the Democratic party, and he who desires to deluge the land with it need only aid in defeating the Republican party.

COL. GEO. A. BAYARD:—

SIR.—As the time is fast approaching when the working men of Centre county, will be called upon to exercise the privilege of casting their votes in favor of candidates to fill the several county offices, and knowing from past experience that the mechanics and working men have been overlooked, or cast aside by the trading and intriguing politician, in the selection of candidates for the county offices, who only views them as voting chattels, to no their bidding on election day.

The undersigned, in behalf of themselves and fellow workmen, who have to earn their bread by the sweat of their brow, and bear the burden of taxation, and fill the rank and file of our army when the Constitution and safety of our Union is endangered, are determined to exercise their elective rights at the coming October election, and claim a portion of the county offices.

Having full confidence in your honesty, integrity, capability and judgment, we request you to permit us to use your name as a candidate for the County Treasury, to be voted for at the next election. As a soldier and officer in the noble old 148th Penna. Volunteers, from this county in the late Rebellion, to sever the Union of States, your military record is clear and honorable, and a tribute to your modest merit. It is time that the working men of every grade in old Centre look to their right, as freemen, and demand a share of the "loaves and fishes" from the speculating and self-interested politicians. Hoping you will comply with our request, and permit us to announce you as a candidate for County Treasurer we are,

Respectfully Yours &c.

MESSRS. BROWN & BARGER:

The Democratic convention of the 8th of August, put in nomination two persons as candidates for the office of Associate Judge, both of whom are residents of the county to be sure, but living in places so inaccessible that the course of justice must either be interrupted, or the pressure of these officials must be secured by a large additional expense to the county and at great loss and inconvenience to the citizens.

Why can we not select a man from the County Town to fill this office? one who would be always at hand when wanted, without having to be sent for at a heavy expense, and who would be qualified to discharge creditably the duties of the office? Such a man as Jesse Klinger, Esquire, of qualifications unquestioned, and who would add dignity to the office, while saving the county the large expense of bringing a judge from the Loop or Bald Eagle ridges to Bellefonte half a dozen times every month; the people would rejoice at the election of such a man would be indeed gratifying, and it is time that the people should teach petty politicians that this is an office of too high a grade to be made subject to their peculiar manipulations.

If Squire Klinger, will accept the office the people will see that he is elected.

ONE OF THEM.

THEY DON'T SEE IT.—Meek in his Watchman last week, states that we were in Pennsvalley, under the pretext of collecting money; but was really on an electioneering tour. It is a wonder that he did not charge us with electioneering for John H. Orvis. We notice the Watchman did not contain many Pennsvalley locals last week, which shows plainly enough what Mr. Meek was doing in Penn and Miles townships. Some people can find time to write letters but no time to write locals or items of interest to the farmers of that lovely valley. Farmers of Penns and Brushvallies, how long will you suffer yourselves to be gulled?

SPEER'S PORT GRAPE WINE.—For persons of sickly and debilitated constitutions it is especially recommended as a valuable tonic and invigorator. As a dinner wine it is pleasant and agreeable, and its exhilarating effects considerably assist digestion. For general family use, it cannot be excelled by the finest imported Port for taste, flavor, or juicy richness, while it is devoid of the deleterious and intoxicating qualities, which uniformly characterize foreign wines.—Independent.

Our Druggists have it.

BELLEFONTE, PA.

THE FIRST-BORN.

The first-born is a Fairy child,
A wonderous emanation!
A tameless creature fond and wild—
A moving exultation!
Beside the hearth upon the stair,
Its footstep laughs with lightness:
And cradled, all its features fair
Are touched with mystic brightness

First pledge of their betrothed love—
O, happy they that claim it;
First gift direct from Heav'n above—
O, happy they that name it!
It tunes the household with its voice,
And, with quick laughter ringing,
Makes the inanimate room rejoice,
A hidden rapture bringing.

Its beauty all the beauteous things
By kindred light resembles;
But, evermore with fluttering wings,
On fairy confines trembles.
So much of those that gave it birth,
Of Father and of Mother;
So much of this world built on earth;
And so much of another!

A CITY SCENE.

One Sunday afternoon about a year since, a clergyman rose to address a congregation of ladies assembled for the Benediction in a small chapel attached to a Religious House. His voice trembled with emotion as he related the following incident, and in the most earnest, touching language appealed to the mothers present to give—as much as lay in their power—time and attention to the re-reclaiming of the fallen of their own sex, particularly young girls led astray but not wholly lost, whom a word in season might reclaim and save from a life of shame and infamy.

"At an early hour this morning," said he, "while passing through ——— street on my way to the chapel to officiate at the early Mass, I observed the van standing before the Station House, and men and women being thrust into it by the officer in charge. All were brought out in their turn until but one remained, a young girl, who gazed wildly around, the picture of despair. Observing me as I stopped, attracted by her piteous cries, she started forward with the exclamation, "Oh, sir!" but was immediately seized by the strong hand of the officer, who pulled her roughly toward the van. She shrieked, and clung with the energy of desperation to the iron railing enclosing the bit of yard before the Station. She was neatly but insufficiently clad for that early hour, and had the appearance of respectability. Her face was the picture of youth and innocence, contorted by agony and apparent terror. I looked into the van; it was filled with wretches whose countenances bore the stamp of crime and debauch; but one female was among this crowd of depraved humanity -an old woman whose hair was white with the frosts of many hard, sinful winters; whose heart evidently was hardened by familiarity with the most odious scenes, and whose face was demon-like in its expression of effrontery and wicked delight in the anguish betrayed by the poor young creature, who was only on the threshhold of that portal that had long since shut the occupant of the van from the world of virtue and innocence.

So tenacious was the grasp of the small hands on the iron-railing, so frantic the struggles of the child—for she was scarcely more than a child in appearance—that the officer called another to his assistance, and by their united efforts she was dragged to the steps of the van, screaming and calling beseechingly, "Oh, sir, help me; oh, mother; mother! look down from Heaven;" when she was lifted on the steps and caught sight of the wretchedness and filth that were to be the companions of her journey in the prison carriage, she shrank back in loathing and terror, and her screams and resistance became redoubled, but of no avail. She was rudely thrust into the midst of the degraded beings, who jeered and laughed, and greeted her with coarse jests and vile welcomes.

As the door of the van closed she gave me an appealing, reproachful, desponding look, and her screams became deeply prolonged moans, that could only be produced by the utmost torture of soul.

After the van had driven away I approached the officer, and asked about this girl. She had been found on a door-step during the night in an inebriated condition, almost stupefied by liquor; had been conveyed to the Station House, where she had slept until the arrival of the van. The officer was grum and irritated by the trouble she had given him, and hoped she would have a good thirty days in Moyamensing. I was satisfied the girl had been drugged, that she was a victim of treachery or foul play, and resolved to pursue the matter immediately after Mass. I did so, and obtained an interview with one of the Prison Inspectors, related the scene that had so harrowed my soul a couple of hours before. I asked to be permitted to visit and question her, and was allowed to accompany him on his daily round.

We found her lying on the floor of the cell, sobbing as though her heart would break. She raised her head and recognized me. "Oh, sir," she exclaimed, "Why did you not rescue me? Why did you let them bring me here?" I told her I had come to hear her story, and to obtain her release if innocent of any serious offence. She eagerly related to me her history. Left an orphan about two years since, she had sought and obtained a situation as child's nurse in a wealthy and prominent family. She was required to take the children every pleasant day to walk, and in the summer to a neighboring square. Here she made the acquaintance of other girls in the same capacity as herself, one of whom had about a month since introduced her to a young man she called her brother. Almost every day since the introduction he had joined her in her walk with her little charge. Yesterday he proposed to her that she should accompany his sister and himself to the theatre; and obtaining leave to spend the evening with a friend, she met the companion of her walks at a neighboring drug store. Finding him alone, she expressed her surprise. His sister was sick, he said, and desired to see her after the performance was over. She hesitated about going with him alone, but he laughed at her scruples, and drawing her on while they argued the matter, she found herself before the door of the theatre before she was aware of being in its vicinity. He hurried her in, giving her no time to object or consent, and in the novelty and delight of the scene she forgot her scruples. When the play was over he reminded her of his sick friend, who was expecting to see her, if but for a moment. It was but a step around the corner, in a small street, and they could be there while they were talking about it. She was ushered into a room on the first floor, and told to be seated until he should inform "Mary" that she was there. In a few moments he returned with a plate of cake and a glass of wine, telling her that the doctor was up stairs, and she could go up as soon as he left. She objected to the wine but was induced to take it, and from that moment her reason seemed to leave her. She became unconscious, and remained so until partially restored by the rough treatment of the officers who dragged her from the door-steps where she was found, to the Station House, where she slept off the effects of the potion, and was horror struck to find herself about to be conveyed to prison. She wrung her hands in anguish as she told her sad story. Even if I procured her release she could not go back to her place—the mistress would not take her back—and what should she do? She appealed to me to take her out, and place her where she should never again see the treacherous friends of her daily walks—somewhere it a place of security—and she would try to lead such a good life. Ladies, your hearts would have ached had you heard her plaintive appeal. And you, mothers, who have daughters, the objects of your love and pride, not one of you I am sure but would take this poor, crushed, desolate, injured child to your homes, and protect her as you would have your own protected if deprived of your loving care. The polluted atmosphere of the Station House and prison van, the humiliation and disgrace attending her imprisonment, with no home or friends to receive her, this young girl, but fifteen years of age, may be lost body and soul, unless some one of her own sex comes forward and undertakes the Christian duty of restoring her to a life of industry and virtue, where she can regain her self-respect, and be the instrument, perhaps, of saving others. Now, ladies, permit me to draw your attention to the matter of your accountability to God for the manner in which you discharge your duty to certain members of your household. I allude to your servants—particularly the young in your employ. Let them not go out at nights, and know where and with whom they go mornings and afternoons. Give them a share of your care and attention, believing that their souls may be required of you at the last "Great Day."

The clergyman did not make his appeal in vain. A lady living in the suburbs of the city took the young girl to her quiet home, where her life, during the past year, has been blameless, her services have become invaluable, and, it is needless to add, her gratitude is unbounded.

QUEER SPECIMENS.—Happening in at the office of Messrs. R. P. Hall & Co., yesterday, our attention was attracted to huge square envelope bearing sundry post-marks, and the stamp of the U. S. Consul at a large city we seldom hear of, and wearing altogether an appearance so different from the modest looking letters which daily pass through our post-office that it naturally prompted the query, "What's in the queer thing?" We were gratified to learn that when the formidable document was duly rendered into our yankee vernacular, it was only an order from Herr Harold Oscar Launy, of Christiania, Norway, "Hair to the Royal Court," for twenty-four dozen, "Hall's Sicilian Hair Renewer." We were also shown a large order from a firm in Kjobenhavn, (Copenhagen) Denmark, and we learn from Mr. Bigelow, the superintendent of R. P. Hall & Co.'s establishment, that such orders from far off foreign countries are no unusual occurence. As they have never advertised their "Renewer" in foreign countries there could be no better evidence of its excellence than their cash orders from places where it has won its way solely by its own intrinsic worth.—N. H. Telegraph.

THE Chicago Tribune asks and receives $22,000 for a column of advertisements one year. The business men of Chicago are keen to pay it. There is one house in Cincinnati that pays $4,000 a year for advertising. There are several in Cleveland, even, who pay as high as $10,000. Somehow these men don't break up; a liberal advertiser never does.

An Exhausted Husband.

LETTER FROM A YOUNG WIFE TO HER AUNT IN BOSTON.

NEW YORK, April, 1871.

MY DEAR AUNT:—Although you told me when I invited you to my wedding, that I was too young to marry, and not capable of choosing a mate for life properly, and with due consideration, I know that you now feel that I was wiser than you thought. In selecting dear Orlando, I have gained a most affectionate and attentive husband, and one who has neither a fault or vice. Heavens! what must a girl suffer who finds herself united to a dissipated person, neglectful of her, and disposed to seek the society of unworthy persons, who drink, smoke, and do all sorts of dreadful things!

Thank Heaven, Orlando is perfection!

To-day is my eighteenth birthday, and we have been married a year. We keep house now, and I can make pretty good pie, only the under-crust will be damp. However, I think that must be the oven. Once I put peppermint in the pudding sauce instead of lemon flavoring; but then Orlando was trying to kiss me, right before the girl, who didn't much like either of us coming into the kitchen at all.

The flowers are coming up beautifully in the back garden. We sowed a great many seed, but hardly expected so many plants. Among the most numerous is one variety with a very large leaf, that scratches one's fingers, and don't smell nice. I wonder what it is? Orlando frightens me by talking about weeds; but seeds always come up, don't they?

Dear Orlando! I come back to him again—so excellent, temperate and true. Tell all the girls to marry as soon as they can, if they can find a husband like mine.

I have but one trial—business takes him so much away from me. A lawyer must attend to business, you know; and sometimes they carry on the cases until two at night. Often and often he has examined witnesses until half-past twelve, and comes home perfectly exhausted. And the nasty things will smoke, so that his dear coat quite smells of it. And as it makes him as ill as it does me, I have to air it, and sprinkle the lining with cologne water, before he dares to put it on again.

I had a terrible fright the other night—dreadful. Orlando had told me that business—I think he said it was a case of life and death—would detain him late. So I sat up, as usual, with a book, and did not worry until one o'clock. After that I was a little anxious, I confess, and caught a cold in my head peeping through the upstairs window blinds; for, dear aunt, it was not until three o'clock that I heard a cab driving up the street, and stop at our door; then I thought I should faint, for I was sure some dreadful accident had happened to Orlando.

I ran down to open the door, and Mr. Smith, a friend of Orlando's, who is not I confess, very much to my taste—such a red-faced, noisy man—was just supporting my dear boy up the steps.

'Oh, what has happened?' cried I.

'Don't be frightened, Mrs. White,' said Mr Smith. 'Nothing at all; only White is a little exhausted. Application to business will exhaust a man, and I thought I would bring him home.'

'All right, Belle,' said Orlando, 'Smith tells the truth—I'm exhausted.'

And, dearest Aunt, he was so much so that he spoke quite thick, and couldn't stand up without tottering. Mr. Smith was kind enough to help him up stairs; and he lay upon the bed so prostrated that I thought he was going to die. Then I remembered the French brandy you gave me in case of sickness. I ran to get it out.

'Have a little brandy and water, dear,' I said.

'The very thing. Smith is exhausted, too. Give some to Smith,' said he.

And so I reproached myself for not having thought of it before Mr. Smith was gone. But I gave a glass to Orlando, and, under Providence, I think it saved his life; for, oh, how bad he was!

'Belle,' said he, quite faltering in his speech, 'the room is going round so fast that I cannot catch your eye. And besides there's two of you, and I don't know which is which.'

I knew these were dreadful symptoms.

'Take a drink, dear,' said I, 'and I'll try to wake Mary and send her for the doctor.'

'No,' said he, 'I'll be all right in the morning. I'm all right now. Here's your health. Your a brick. I—' and over he fell, fast asleep.

Oh, why do men think so much of money-making? Is not health better than anything else?

Of course, as he had laid down in his hat, I took that off first. And I managed to divest him of his coat. But when it came to his boots—dearest aunt, did you ever take off a gentleman's boots? probably not as you are a single lady what a task! How do they ever get 'em on? I pulled, and shook and wriggled, and gave it up. But it would not do to leave them on all night, so I went at it again, and at last one of them came off so suddenly; and over I went on the floor, and into his hat, which I had put down there for a minute. I could have cried. And the other came off the same way, just as hard and just as sudden at last. Then I put a soft blanket over Orlando, and sat in my sewing chair all night. Oh, how heavily he breathed! And I had, as you may fancy, the most dreadful fears. He might have killed himself by his over-application to business for all that I know. The perfect ones go first, it is said.

However, imagine my delight when at noon next day, he was able to get up, eat a slice of toast and drink a cup of strong tea, and declared himself much better, though his head ached.

How happy I was! I found myself laughing over a little incident that occurred that afternoon, as though I had never had any trouble. A lady's glove fell out of Orlando's pocket and the fragments of a bouquet. The bouquet he had, of course, bought for me, thinking he would be home early, and the glove he found in the street. And I pretended to be jealous, and pulled his whiskers for him.

Oh, how differently should I have felt had anything happened to my poor Orlando! He has not had such an exhausting day since, and I think sees the folly of over-work; though the courts will keep open so late, what can poor lawyers do? I think it is very inconsiderate of the Judge. I wonder if he has a wife a mean old thing.

Benevolence.

A benevolent man is a happy man; he cannot be otherwise, for it is a universal law of our nature to be made happy by making others so. Those evil passions, such as envy, hatred, malice, pride and such like, do not exist in the heart of a benevolent man. These malign passions are found within the heart of the selfish man, which lead him to deception, fraud, murder, or crimes of the most heinous nature. Yes, the very worst elements in such a one's nature are in activity against him.

A benevolent man has a heart cleansed from all those evil passions that would have a tendency to cause him to commit any act of injustice. He lives to make others happy, for their happiness is his, and he thus realizes the verity of the Divine assertion, "It is more blessed to give than to receive.

Bunyan once put the following riddle into his own peculiar verse:—

"There was a man, though some did count him mad,
The more he gave away the more he had."

The benevolent man has no difficulty in finding its solution, for he has already learned that for every act of liberality he has received a rich reward; and if not in like, which is often the case, it has been in the true enjoyment of doing good, and making others happy by tenfold. Conclusively every benevolent man, by experience, has found that acts of benevolence bring home to his heart happiness and joy which the cares of this world can neither give nor take away.

HISTORY OF WEALTH.—Charles, Duke of Brunswick, the great diamond fancier, now at Geneva, is so concerned about the safety of the rare jewels that he keeps them guarded day and night, and frequently starts from his sleep, dreaming he has been robbed. The possession of his precious stones is such a fearful responsibility that he has little rest and no peace. In his will he has bequeathed all his diamonds; estimated to be worth $20,000,000 or $30,000,000, to the Prince Imperial.

MISCELANEOUS ITEMS.

At Scranton, on Friday, a man giving the name of Jackson Brown stole a valise from Mr. Whalley, a Presbyterian minister. Brown attempted to make his escape on a railway train, when he was captured and taken before an alderman. The valise contained over $5,000 in money and bonds—the sum total of Mr. Whalley's wordly wealth.

A Little Judicious Praise.

No heart is insensible to words of praise, or the kindly smile of approbation; and none are utterly above being affected by censure or blame. Children are particularly sensitive in this respect. Nothing can discourage a child more than a spirit of incessant fault-finding; and perhaps nothing can exert a more baneful influence upon both parent and child. If your little one, through the day, has been pleasant and obedient, and you say to him, "My son, you have been good to day, and it makes me very happy;" and if, with more than a usually affectionate embrace you say, "Good-night, my dear child," a throb of suppressed feeling fills his breast, and he resolves on always earning such approval. If your grown son, or daughter, have accomplished some difficult piece of work, rendering you essential assistance, or have climbed some steep in in the daily drill of study; or have acquired some new accomplishment, or added grace; or, better than all, have gained the victory over some bad habit or besetting sin—acknowledge it see it, praise them for it. Let them see by your added tenderness, the deep joy and comfort it gives you. Thus you will create a great incentive to right conduct, and lay a broad foundation for a character which shall be redolent with succulent fruit and fragrant blossoms.

A Chinese Puzzle.

A Chinaman died, leaving his property to his three sons, as follows: To Fum Hum, his eldest, one-half thereof Nu-Pin, his second son, one-third thereof, and to Ding-Bat, his youngest one ninth thereof. When the property was inventeried, it was found to consist of nothing more nor less than seventeen elephants; and it puzzled these three heirs how to divide the property according to the terms of the will, without chopping up the seventeen elephants, and thereby seriously impairing their value. Finally, they applied to a wise neighbor, Sum-Punk for advice. Sum-Punk had an elephant of his own. He drove it into the yard with the seventeen, and said; "Now we will suppose that your father has left these eighteen elephants. Fum-Hum, take your half and depart.' So Fum Hum took his nine elephants and went his way. "Now, Nu Pin," said the wise man, "take your third and git." So Nu-Pin took his elephants and traveled. "Now, Ding-Bat," said the wise man, "take your ninth and begone." So Ding-Bat took two elephants and absquatulated.—Then Sum-Punk took his own elephant and drove home again. Query: Was the property divided according to the will?"

Ingenious Benevolence.

Charity is often bestowed in so careless or ungracious a manner, that it injures the feelings of the recipient more than it benefits him otherwise. For although there are scores of coarse and hardened beggars who make no attempt to work for a living, there are thousands of needy ones whose feelings are as delicate as if they abounded in wealth. A beautiful story is told of Lamartine. One day a destitute author called upon him, and after telling him his condition, begged the loan of some money. Lamartine, much moved by his story, gave him the amount asked. He then conducted his visitor to the vestibule. As he opened the street door the unfortunate author shivered in his thin coat. A sudden idea struck Lamartine, and calling out, "Monsieur, you are forgetting your overcoat," he quickly took down an overcoat that was hanging in the passage, and assisted his needy visitor to put it on with so much dexterity and grace that the poor man, quite overcome, did not know how to refuse a gift which was so delicately offered to him.

THERE is not anything more pleasant or more instructive than to compare experience with expectation, or to register from time to time the difference between idea and reality.

POLITENESS is, in business, what stratagem is in war. It gives power in weakness; it supplies great deficiencies. It is invincible either in attack or defence.

THE nobility of a soul is gauged as much by its emotional as by its intellectual strength; the being who feels is as sublime as the being who thinks.

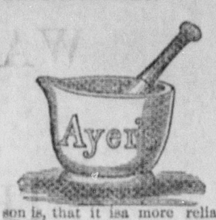
Medical.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

For all the the Purpose of a Laxative medicine.



Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use in every county and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill.—The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them: those who have not, knows that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterous drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh, and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions from the stomach' bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, BILLIOUS HEADACHE, SICK HEADACHE, JAUNDICE or GREEN SICKNESS, BILLIOUS COLIC and BILLIOUS FEVERS, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back or Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For DROPSY and DROPSICAL SWELLINGS they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a DINNER PILL, take one or two PILLS to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these PILLS makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

June 1st, 1866.

DR. MAGGIEL:—I take my pen to write you of my great relief and that the awful pain in my side has left me at last—thanks to your medicine. Oh, Doctor, how thankful I am that I can get some sleep. I can never write it enough. I thank you again and again, and am sure that you are really the friend of all sufferers. I could not help writing to you, and hope you will not take it amiss. JAMES MYERS,
116 Avenue, D.

This is to certify that I was discharged from the army with Chronic Diarrhœa, and have been cured by Dr. Maggiel's Pills.

WILSON HARVEY,
NEW YORK, April 7, 1866. 27 Pitt Street.

The following is an interesting case of a man employed in an Iron Foundry, who, in pouring melted iron into a flask that was damp and wet, caused an explosion. The melted iron was thrown around and on him in a perfect shower, and he was burnt dreadfully. The following certificate was given to me, by him, about eight weeks after the accident:

NEW YORK, Jan. 11, 1866.

My name is Jacob Hardy; I am an Iron Founder. I was badly burnt by hot iron in November last; my burns healed, but I had a running sore on my leg that would not heal: I tried Maggiel's Salve and it cured me in a few weeks. This is all true and anybody can see me at Jackson's Iron Works, 3d Avenue.

J. HARDY, 119 Greeck St.

EXTRACTS FROM VARIOUS LETTERS.

"I had no appetite; Maggiel's Pills gave me a hearty one."

"Your Pills are marvellous."

"I send for another box, and keep them in the house."

"Dr. Maggiel has cured my headache that was chronic."

"I gave half of one of your Pills to my babe for cholera morbus. The dear little thing got well in a day."

"My nausea of a morning is now cured.'

"Your box of Maggiel's Salve cured me of noises in the head. I rubbed some of your Salve behind my ears, and the noise has left."

"Send me two boxes, I want one for a poor family."

"I enclose a dollar, your price is 25 cents, but the medicine to me is worth a dollar."

"Send me five boxes of your Pills."

"Let me have three boxes of your Pills by return mail."

I Have over 200 such Testimonials as these, but want of space compels me to conclude.

FOR CUTANEOUS DISORDERS,

And all erruptions of the skin, the SALVE is most invaluable. It does not heal externally alone, but penetrates with the most searching effects to the very root of the evil.

Terms: $2.00 Per Annum in Advance.

BELLEFONTE, PA.

Wednesday Morning, August 16, 1871.

REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.

FOR AUDITOR GENERAL,

DAVID STANTON,

OF BEAVER COUNTY.

FOR SURVEYOR GENERAL,

ROBERT B. BEATH,

OF SCHUYLKILL COUNTY.

THE decline and fall of the Republican party, which was to have gone on with amazing rapidity from the New Hampshire election, till all smaller defeats were swallowed up in one overwhelming disaster, in '72, is making a very crab-like progress thus far. Since New Hampshire—

It has triumped in Democratic Connecticut;

It has won substantial victories in Democratic New Jersey;

It has carried lately Democratic North Carolina by a majority of over 5,000 at an election of the Democracy's own making;

It yesterday cut down the huge Democratic majority in Democracy's chosen home and strong hold—Kentucky—some 60,000.

Next!—Wilmington Commercial.

THE COLORED VOTE.

The negro vote in the South, to use a hyperbole, is eternally Republican. Neither threats, cajolery, murder, nor money can make the freedman believe that it is his duty to support his old oppressors for office. The Raleigh (N. C.) Sentinel, a Democratic paper, speaking of the solid manner in which the negro vote was thrown against the convention, says: "The inevitable tendency of a consolidated negro vote is to produce in the end a consolidated white vote—and woe betide the poor darkey when that day comes. He alone will be responsible for the result, and for becoming the victim of the bad white man that for the meanest purposes are leading him to ruin." This is the kind of language that inspired Kukluxism, and which makes the colored man cling closer to Republicanism, even though his fidelity costs him his life.

MR. STEPHENS ON THE PENNSYLVANIA DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

In the "True Sun" of July 20th, replying to some criticisms of a Georgia editor, who after being all things for office, has now become a New Departurist, quotes from the last Harrisburg Democratic platform, Mr. Stephens says:

RESOLVED, That we recognize the binding obligation of all the provisions of the Constitution of the United States as they now exist, and we deprecate the discussion of issues which have been settled in the manner and by the authority constitutionally appointed."

He then asks his editorial critic if he supports this, and says:

"If he does as we understand him, and all the "New Departurists" to do, how then can we be said to misrepresent either him or them, in assigning them the position of holding that these most fraudulent and iniquitous measures should be accepted as "finalities," and that their validity should never hereafter be questioned at the ballot box or elsewhere?"

He proceeded to declare, that:

We see no 'helping hand' to the TRUE friends of the Constitution and Government, as established by our ancestors, in their present hour of peril and danger, from those who wish to consign to oblivion the most daring and reckless usurpations, by which the liberties of any people on earth were ever assailed.

Mr. Stephens is not choice in his epithets. We are pleased at his frankness. It enables Republicans to see clearer and judge more distinctly.

A LIVE HOME JOURNAL—NOTABLE CHANGE.—Last October, Hearth and Home, passed into the hands of Messrs. Orange Judd & Co., of 245 Broadway, New York, the well known publishers of the American Agriculturist—a journal long without a rival in sterling value and circulation. The marked improvements then expected to appear in Hearth and Home have been fully realized, and it is now one of the choicest illustrated journals anywhere issued for the family circle—adapted to both the juvenile and adult people, and meeting the special wants of the housekeeper. Besides it supplies very useful chapters for the garden and farm, and an important NEWS sheet, giving a valuable resume of the news for a week, up to the moment of issue. From $500 to $800 worth of very fine engravings beautify each weekly number. We notice now a still further mark of enterprise on the part of the publishers; they have secured the exclusive editorial services of EDWARD EGGLESTON, so widely and favorably known by his writings in Scribner's Monthly, and many other Magazines and Journals, and especially as the chief superintending Editor of the New York Independent for some time past. With this notable addition to the previously large and strong editorial force, HEARTH AND HOME can not fail to merit and command a prominent place in every household, in city, village, and country. Specimen copies can doubtless be obtained of the publishers, as above.—Terms only $3 a year. Single numbers 8 cents. Hearth and Home and American Agriculturist together, $4 a year. Better add one or both of them to your supply of reading; they are each worth infinitely more than the small cost.

ALEXANDER H. STEPHEN'S 'BALL AND CHAIN' AND THE "NEW DEPARTURE."

Schuyler Colfax's first speech in Congress was made during the early stages of the Kansas struggle. It will be remembered as a remarkably powerful analysis of the infamous code of laws which the Missouri Border ruffians had forced upon that territory. A startlingly dramatic effect was made by Mr. Colfax, producing a ball and chain, similar to those ordered to be used on persons convicted of writing or speaking against slavery in Kansas. The incident created a sensation.

Alexander H. Stephens, who occupied a seat near Mr. Colfax, asked permission to examine the ball and chain. It was put into his hands, and afterwards the speaker made a very clever hit by referring to the spectacle of this venerable apologist for slavery producing its chains. Mr. Stephens, in many respects, a man of great ability, has been holding that ball and chain before the mind's eye of the American people ever since. Just now he seems to be enjoying a renewal of the sport. At that time (1855-6) he was deemed more conservative than the fireaters; yet protesting, vainly, he still eagerly plunged into their arms, and was, by them, made to carry their "ball and chain" in the way of making a bold defence of slavery as the corner stone of the new Confederacy, over whose fortunes he was made the second chief. During the progress of the rebellion, he was made to hold up, at various times, the issues, whatever they were, which most nearly symbolized the "ball and chain" policy.

At the Fortress Monroe Conference, the Confederacy put forth this willing servant, and since reconstruction he has been the pronounced holder of the "ball and chain" opposition to emancipation, enfranchisement, security and protection. The ultra Ku-Klux policy of opposition to the "New Departure" has deposited its "ball and chain" in Mr. Stephens hands. He appears far more willing to carry it than he was the twelve pounds of iron Mr. Colfax once gave him to hold.

Just now Mr. Stephens assumes the role of Editor, and in the columns of the Atlanta (Ga.) "True Sun," he flourishes in long and dismal editorials against the "New Departure," which, without the slightest intellectual merit, are yet worth reading, because they illustrate how stupendous a thing Southern bourbornism has become. Mr. Stephens' "ball and chain" quarrel with his party associates is none of our fight. We feel as the Irishman did over the "Kilkenny cats," quite willing to see it go on till only an occasional claw and a little fur is visible.

But the utterances of Mr. Stephens are significant, because of the man's representative position and the fact that his undoubted pride of opinion, gives him the courage to boldly avow the "ball and chain" policy and defend it the uttermost. Besides, he speaks for the South, and without doubt, for the great body of Democrats everywhere.

Citizens loyal to the Republic, faithful to the Union, desirious of peace and obedient to the Constitution "as it is," may well ponder over the words of the ex-rebel Vice President. Some Southern papers, notably the Louisville Courier-Journal" and Montgomery "Advertiser" are attacking him sharply, not for his views, but because their utterance are deemed wholly inexpedient. In answering, Mr. Stephens tells us very plainly what the "ball and chain" Democracy really believe and intend:

The Mercantile and Manufacturing Interests of a Great City Combining to Oppose the Democratic Party.

One of the most remarkable combinations ever entered into by any portion of the American people, is that just presented in the attitude of the merchants and manufacturers of New York city. Those great interests have resolved to unite, and for what purpose? It can be simply told. The union is for the purpose of putting a stop to Democratic plundering of the city treasury. Facts have just come to light showing that under Democratic rule, New York city is annually robbed of millions of dollars, and the only way to protect the people from such peculation is to defeat the Democratic party and drive its representatives from power. The two most intelligent classes of New York declare this to be imperatively necessary and have resolved to combine to effect it. Of course there are Democrats among these merchants and manufacturers, but they are passive politicians, who have been trusting to the integrity of the Hoffmans, Tweeds, Sweenys and Halls for the faithful management of governmental affairs, when lo! the startling fact is developed that while the manufacturing and mercantile classes have been laboring to make New York city one of the great commercial and financial centres of the world, the Democratic leaders have been robbing its treasuries. And now comes the startling fact, that the industrial classes of a prosperous city, the producer and the financier, are forced to combine to put a stop to the rule of the Democratic party, that plunder and bloodshed may be hereafter avoided. Such practical movements among the people are severer comments on modern Democracy than could be uttered by the most sarcastic Republican journalist in the country. They are even more overwhelming than Russell Errett's State Central Committee addresses, and must trouble the Democracy of Pennsylvania terribly.—State Journal.

THE Democratic leaders in North Carolina, in view of the recent defeat of their party at the polls, are calling lustily for a reorganization of the party.

The Republican party, they say, is in better condition to-day than ever before in North Carolina.

NEWS FROM OTHER COUNTIES.

BLAIR COUNTY.

The Altoona Tribune says, that twenty years ago, Altoona had scarcely an existence. When the last census was taken, she ranked among the 134 cities in the Union, having over 10,000 inhabitants, the 122d. The next decade, however, will see her occupying a much higher rank.....The coal house at Allegheny Forge, was burned down some days ago, along with some thirty loads of coal. Loss about $1,000—about equalled sustained between Mrs. Lytle and the firm of Armstrong & Co. Supposed to be the act of an incendiary. ..... On Saturday evening the 5th inst., while Mr. Addison Kline was crossing the upper Railroad bridge, he was shot at three times by some person unknown. One of the shots passed through his coat, but fortunately did not produce any further injury. No clue as to the perpetrator of the villainous outrage has been reached, but it is to be hoped that he will yet be found out and brought to justice for his cowardly and murderous conduct.....On Wednesday evening the 2d inst., a woman of ill-repute giving her name as Lovell Kessler, while walking on the track, was struck by a locomotive near the Norcross Cut, about two miles above this city, and very seriously injured. She had one leg and several of her ribs broken. She was brought to the city, her wounds attended to, and sent to the county Infirmary. It is rumored that she has since died. .....A few days since, Mrs. Peter Greene, of the Third Ward, made a narrow escape from being precipitated into an old well. The well had been covered over and filled with brush and refuse matter, and while hanging up her wash upon the clothes-line, suddenly found one foot sinking below terra firma. Had she unfortunately made the descent by the other limb giving way, the probability is she would have been drowned or suffocated, as the well contained some five or six feet of water. Persons cannot be too careful, in filling up old wells and vaults on their premises, and when old ones have thus been disposed of, a careful examination of them should be made occasionally to see that they are secure. "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."..... Information is wanted of Charles Condon, of county Warford, Ireland, who came to this country some three or four years since. Should this notice meet his eye, he will please communicate with his brother James Condon, Altoona, Blair county, Pa., who is very anxious to learn of his whereabouts..... Information is also wanted of William Coveny, of county Cork, Ireland, who came to this country about eleven years since.—Should this notice meet his eye, he will confer a great favor upon his brother, Dennis Coveny, by writing to him at Altoona, Blair county, Pa.....On Friday evening the 4th inst., Mrs. Parker, (better known as Sallie Lang) wife of Parker, a conductor on the Emigrant train between this point and Pittsburgh, was arrested and placed in the Lock-up on the charge of having suffocated an an infant child of her husband's, aged about nineteen months. She claims that it fell from a chair, in a spasm, and died from the effects of the fall or the spasm, but the opinion of the examining physicians is different. It appears that about five o'clock in the afternoon she called in one of her neighbors stating that the child had a fit. When the neighbor came in she picked up the child and found it dead. She then called in other neighbors and sent for a policeman. The policeman summoned Coroner Humes, and an investigation was entered into. The examining physicians found every appearance of suffocation. The marks on the face of the child seemed to indicate that the heel of two hands had been placed over its mouth, and the nostrils compressed with the thumbs. The marks of fingers were plainly discernable on the cheek and forehead. There was also a bruise on the back of the head. The opinion of the physician was that the child came to its death from suffocation, and so the jury found. The actions of Mrs. Parker before the inquest, her previous threats against the life of the child, and the fact that it was never known to have spasms induced the authorities to arrest her as the person guilty of the infanticide. She was taken to jail, at Hollidaysburg, to await her trial at next court.

CLINTON COUNTY.

The Republican says that Officer Fowler arrested two men named Oakley Warner and Irwin High, charged with burglariously entering the store of Mr. Sylvester Brady, of Mill Hall, on the night of the 28th ult., and taking therefrom a lot of tobacco, pipes, candies, penknives, and fractional currency to the amount of $5. A hearing took place before Alderman Batcheler, who sent the accused to jail, in default of bail, for the action of the Grand Jury.....On Monday night last, Mr. J. W. Wallace, druggist on Water street, this city, while in a somnambulistic state, arose from his bed and, walking to the window of his room, opened the shutters and got on to the cornice of the second story of the building, from whence he traveled up the cornice to the room window of one of his clerks, whom he awoke in his efforts to enter the room, and, who, supposing Mr. Wallace to be a burglar, struck him in the face with his fist, which seems not to have restored him to consciousness, for Mr. Wallace turned round stepped off the cornice, from which he fell to the pavement, some fifteen feet distant. Mr. Wallace's face was painfully injured by the fall, besides he was stunned in such a manner as to render his condition quite a helpless one. As soon as Mr. Wallace was struck, the clerk recognized him, but was unable to reach him, in time to save him from the fall. Mr. Wallace's condition, we are glad to add, is not very dangerous, and he is expected to be able to resume his business in a few days.

HUNTINGDON COUNTY.

In the Journal we find that a few days ago the operators, in the Broad Top region, announced to the miners that they would reduce the wages, and on the 3d inst., the miners, almost to a man, "laid off." It is not known how soon the matter will be adjusted.....Our community was shocked, on Monday evening the 26th ult., by a telegram from Pittsburg, stating that a Mrs. Clarke, of Huntingdon, had committed suicide by hanging herself to a post of the bedstead, in her room, at the Union Depot Hotel. It was learned next morning that Mrs. Clarke was the wife of a man living at Six Mile Run, and that he was on the way to Pittsburgh, to identify the body. We expect next week, to publish a full statement of the whole matter which will throw light on the mystery connected with it.

THE MONTHLY NOVELETTE FOR AUGUST.—If the good things in 'The Monthly Novelette" were only generally known throughout the country it would circulate by the hundred thousand copies. But it will be known, and that, too, in a short time, for it is gaining in estimation quite fast, and has the most liberal list of contents, the most varied, in all respects, of any magazine in the United States. Sea stories, adventures, love stories, poetry, history, biography, etc., etc., can be found in each number; and now here is the August issue bright with good things, just such as the public relish. Here is a list of the contents:—"The Baronet's Daughter;" "At Sea;" "A Domestic Mystery;" "Trapped by a Woman;" "Charlemagne;" "The Unforgotten;" 'Mr. Farrington's Housekeeper;' "Two Moods;" "Homeward Bound;" 'The Bald Ghost;' 'A Difficult Wooding;' "Zuruckblick—Retrospect;" "The Black Domino;" "Precious Stones;" "The First Gentleman in Europe;" "Haymaking;" "The Temptation;" "Dealings with Mad Dogs;" "The Country of the Koraks;" "The Philosophy of Birds' Nests;" OUR JUVENILE DEPARTMENT—"A False Step: or, The Fortunes and Misfortunes of Fred Wilder;" "How Johnny went to the Circus;" "John's Revenge;" "Anecdotes—Wit and Humor." Only 20 cents a number, or $2 per year. Send 15 cents for specimen copies. Address Thomes & Talbot, 63 Congress Street, Boston.

Drunkenness and its Curses—No. 20.

BY REFORMATION.

Then he said unto his disciples, it is impossible but that offence will come, but wo unto him, through whom they come. St. Luke xvii, v. 1. It were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and he cast into the sea, than he should offend one of these little ones, v. 2d. We are here taught, that the giving of offences is a great sin, and which all and every one should be careful not to give, but with great caution all should avoid, and carefully watch against. We can expect no other than offences will come, considering the general depravity of mankind, but notwithstanding all this, the wise purposes and counsel of God, who will carry on his work even by those offences, and bring or turn the evil out. It is impossible but that offences will come, but is it not through disobedience to the will of God? We cannot lay this charge upon the divine will, for God cannot be the father of sin—that disobedience may be inculcated. But when the Saviour made this declaration he did so knowing that it had its being in the human heart, from whence comes heinious offences. But woe to him through whom they come—the doom upon all such will be exceedingly great. Vengeance is mine, I will repay saith the Lord.

Upon whom is this awful crime imputed? Did it cease with the generation that was upon the earth at the time the declaration was made? Now if such were the case, the new testament of Christ would be no better than a fiction, for he says "the heavens and the earth may pass away but my word shall not," it was in the hour in which it was made? Yea it will stand beyond the time of all nations. What is the nature of an offence? Is it not in a broad sense a cause of stumbling, any violation of law, divine or human, &c.

Then need we further argue this point? How do our churches of the present day stand in relation to this matter? Have you, as a whole, cleared your skirts of this imputation? It is much to be feared you have not. Where does the moral world stand in regard to this great charge? I will not endeavor to give any answers to these questions, but one thing I can, with much safety do, and that is to tell you where you can find a true answers: "In your conscience."

Now, Drunkenness with all its curses are upon us, sweeping whole families into destruction, sending thousands upon thousands down to hell, while the traffic in intoxicating liquors is made a respectable business by men who fill high positions of honor in society—through the license law. Now, how can you escape the curse that awaits you in this heinious crime? How can you claim exemption from guilt, when, through your instrumentality, the whole country is mourning in blood? Family after family sink down to misery, shame and pollution. Soul after soul sink into an everendless hell, and who dares to say this is not the fruit of the license law, the name of which s a reproach to the our nation. Woe unto him through whom they come. Can any one fail to see from whence this great offence cometh? Nay, verily not. To say you did not, would be to quench the spirit of God. But why do you continue on in this mad career of death, when you know to do so is but destruction to your fellow-man, and swift destruction to your own soul? What answers can you make to this charge? What! are you unable to answers? Are you become speechless? Have you lost the power of utterance? Well, I will answers for you; Avarice, covetousness, cupidity, the love of worldly gain, the love of money, &c.

But again, it is impossible but that offences will come, but woe unto him through whom they come. More terrible than that of the worst malefactors who are condemned to be thrown into the sea, for they perish under a load of guilt, more ponderous than that of millstones. This includes a woe, to percecutors who offer any injury to the least of Christ's little ones, either by word, deed, or example, by which they are discouraged in serving Christ, and doing their duty, or in danger of being driven off from it. To seducers, who corrupt the truths of Christ and his ordinances, and so trouble the minds of the followers of Christ, for they are those by whom offences come. To those who, under the profession of the christian name, live scandalously, and thereby weaken the hands and sadden the hearts of God's people, for by them the offence comes, and it is no abatement of their guilt nor will be any of their punishment, that it is impossible but offences will come.

Harp no longer exemption from guilt, because this machine of blood—the license law—is found upon our statute book. Hide your faces with shame, conscience has long since stamped the guilt of this excuse upon the table of the hearts of every one who endeavors to shield themselves from the blood of thousands though this subtile mammon of destruction—the god of riches, but the price of blood. When the court grants a license for the vending of ardent spirits, there should be printed in large letters, the full intent and meaning of said license, and the whole, carefully framed under a glass, and hung in a conspicuous place for all to see what the vender is empowered to do through said license, and when the vender opens his place of business, it will save much tongue-labor. That codicil should read something like this (and should be carefully read by all): "That so many of the inhabitants of this town or city, he will, for the sake of their money, make paupers and send them to the alms-house, and thus oblige the whole community to support them and families, that so many others he will excite to the commission of crimes, and thus increase the expense and endanger the peace and welfare of the community; and that so many he will send to the jail; and so many more to the State prison; and so many to the gallows; that so many he will visit with sore and distressing diseases; that in so many cases he will deprive men of reason, and in so many cases will cause sudden death; that so many wives he will make widows; and so many children he will make orphans and that in so many cases he will cause the children to grow up in ignorance, vice and crime, and after being nuisances on earth will bring them to a premature grave; that in so many cases he will prevent the efficacy of the Gospel, grieve away the Holy Ghost, and ruin for eternity the soul of men. And suppose he could and should give some faint conception of what it is to lose the soul, and of the overwhelming and coming wretchedness of him who is knowingly instrumental in producing this ruin, and suppose, at the bottom of this codicil there should be put this question, viz: What, you may ask, can be my object in acting so much like a devil incarvate, and bringing so much misery and, wretchedness upon a comparatively happy people? And under it in large letters should be put the true answers;" "MONEY." And there, pointing to the king of destruction hanging in a frame behind the loaded bottles of the liquid lava, "License." I have, as you see, the authority to do this, from our County Court. I paid for the license, and go on to say, I have a family to support. I want money, and must have it, this is my business, I was brought up to it, and if I should not follow it, I must change my business, or I could not support my family, &c.

And, reader, this is but a drop in the bucket in the enumeration of the evils that flow from the license law. Were they all written out for the purpose of placing them in a frame along with the license, it could not possibly be done, simply from the fact that there is not a hotel on the face of the earth, sufficiently large enough to hold this frame.

Now comes the great question to be decided, which I will leave with the public for the present to reflect upon? Who is the most guilty in the sight of God—the vender who sells subject to a license, or the law making power, through and by which, the vender receives his license? That both are guietly before the tribunal of heaven, there is not a shadow of doubt; but who are the most guilty? is the question. And now will you not soon decide this great question of life and death? Will you not save yourselves and your offspring from the horrors as it were of a second death, or will you continue in this crime of licensed whiskey, and be instrumental in sending the soul of our children's children down to an everendless hell?

Then said he unto his diciples it is impossible, but that offences will come, but woe unto him through whom they come. Let this age be distinguished as the age of reformation from the use of ardent spirits, in every shape and form. Let us wash our hands and cleanse our skirts from this ocean of blood. If any man think otherwise, and choose to continue in the trafic, I have but a few words to say. When you order a cargo of intoxicating drink, think how much misery you are importing into the community. As you store it up, think how many curses you are heaping together against yourself. As you roll it out of your store, think how many families each barrel will ruin. Let your thoughts then revert to your own fireside, your wife and your children, reflect for a moment, look upward to Him who judgeth righteously and ask yourself: Is this right, am I, in the sight of God, a murderer? Yes, that is the true conclusion.

Well, friends of the cause of God and weeping humanity, with this article I close my labors on this subject for the present. How much my labors, or how little they have been appreciated, I do not know. I have the satisfaction of knowing that I have done my duty. My motives are pure in the cause, and all that I have written I have done without fear, favor or affection. Once was I in the licensed chains of destruction, and for years was I held there. But those chains are forever broken and I am free.

And now, wives, mothers, and daughters, I appeal to you; redouble your exertions, until the great king of drunkenness is forever banished from our land—"The License Law.

Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.
They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.
FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.
PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

WHITE FISH, Herring, Mackerel, &c., at BUSHFIELD & THOMAS.

Why Women Wed.

Some close observer of our social relations having looked about among his married female acquaintances, ventures to give the following list, with an attempt to indicate the real reasons which influence too many to marry:

Number one has married for a home. She got tired of working in the factory or teaching school, she thought married life on earth was but moonlight walks, buggy rides, new bonnets, and nothing to do.

Well she got tired of her home, whether or not she is tired of the encumbrances this deponent saith not, inasmuch as this deponent does not positively know.

Number two married because she had seven young sisters and her papa with a narrow income. She consulted the interest of her family. Perhaps she would better have consulted her own interest by taking in light washing, or going out by the day to work.

Number three married because Mrs. sounded better than Miss. She was twenty-nine years and eleven months old, and another month would have transformed her into a regular old maid. Think how awful that would have been.

Number four married because she wanted somebody to pay her bills.—Her husband married for precisely the same reason, so they are both lamenting at leisure.

Number five married because Fanny White had a nice husband, and she wasn't going to be left behind. Pity if she couldn't get married as well as other folks.

Number six married because she was poor and wanted riches. She never counted on all other things that were inseparable from those riches.

Number seven married because she would like to travel. But Mr. Number Seven changed his mind afterwards, and all the travelling she has done has been between the well and back kitchen door.

Number eight married out of spite, because her first lover had taken to himself a second love! This piece of retaliation might have done her good at the time, but in the long run number eight found it did not pay.

Number nine married because she loved her husband with all her heart and her soul. And she loves him still, and willl probably continue to love him, and is the happiest wife in the world—so she says.

We have the right motive at last—one which, when sanctified by a desire and resolution to improve and elevate each other, and to live true and holy before God, cannot fail to call down the blessings of Heaven. But sad is the fate of those who marry from wrong motives—to escape their share of life's work, or to get some thing for which they have nothing to give in return.

The Last Words of the Dying.

These are eagerly sought after, and enshrined in memory's bosom by loved ones. The hero, standing upon the field of battle, amid the booming of cannon and the rattle of musketry, is stricken down, and dying he utters some sentiment, which tells the living he fought bravely, and died loving his country. His words, thus uttered are chanted in his praise, pass immediately into history, and are preserved to be handed down from generation to generation.

The mother bending over the couch of her dying child, eagerly listens for its last words. As the heart's pulsations grow feeble, the respiration becomes more laborious, she silently listens. Now the pale lips are parted and she draws nearer until her ear comes in contact with the faint murmer of the dying one. Oh how she treasures in her pure heart that last "Good-bye," that last token of going home to heaven!

The husband through weary days and nights, has been watching at the bedside of his darling wife, until now the dread moment approaches when she will be wafted beyond the river of death. Under no pretence will he now leave her, and why? Ah! he is waiting and listening for the last whisper. As she speaks, her words echo, and re-echo through the chamber of his soul, and remain there throughout the mystic future.

As a young lady reads over the list of the slain in battle, and her weeping eyes rest upon the name of her lover, almost her first thought is, "Did he leave me a dying message?"

The sweet sister of a shipwrecked brother impatiently awaits the arrival of some one rescued from the wreck, to learn if her brother, as he was swept beneath the dark waves, sent her a dying word.

Yes, dying words are those most sought after and cherished by the human heart. Amid all the cares and disappointments that may surround us in life, we never can forget the last faint whisperings of the dying.

COMPLETION OF THE PACIFIC RAIL ROAD.

GREAT RUSH TO STERNBERG'S.

Sung to the tune of Yankee Doodle.

The Great Pacific Railroad's laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And now complete connections made,
An enterprising notion.

The mighty work at last is done,
So speedy and brisk, oh!
And now in ten days we can run
From here to San Francisco.

No more we take the ancient route,
The stage, a horrid slow thing;
It banged the passengers about
And wore out all their clothing.

CHORUS, for the end of each verse:

The Great Pacific Railroad laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And we buy clothes from A. STERNBERG,
A most delightful notion.

Through passengers by the Pacific Railroad will call at the store of A. Sternberg, before starting, and provide themselves with a complete outfit of Spring and Summer clothing, the very best assortment of which will always be found at A. Sternberg's Store.

People who travel by other routes, and also people who, instead of travelling by any route at all, prefer to stay at home, can find the most superior and seasonable garments, for every occasion, of every variety, and at the lowest price.

Do not fail to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere; if you do not, we are sure you will be sorry that you did not. Our goods are put down to the lowest figure. We sell whole suits, according to quality.

NELSON LUCAS.

DRUGS.—Zeller & Jarrett, at their splendid Drug Store on Bishop Street, have just received another large supply of toilet soaps, brushes, fancy articles, chemicals, wall paper &c. Call in and see.

WANTED.—Two boot makers at the Boot and Shoe store of John Powers, opposite the Bush House, are wanted and can find steady work—one on pegged the other on stitched work. None need apply but the best of workmen.

HARD TO BEAT.—Samuel Albright connected with C. W. Albright, Millheim, Pa., is one of the best blacksmiths in the State. This at least is his reputation. There is nothing in his business that he cannot do. Buggies, carriages, &c., ironed by him, are worth $20 more than those ironed by common or incompetent workmen.

GLAD OF IT.—We are glad to see that S. S. Rice, who was the gentlemanly Superintendent of the Bush House, under Frank McClain, maintains his situation with the new Proprietors, Clements & Lowry. In this we think the new firm evinces good judgment, for they may hunt the State over and not find a better man for the place.

SEVERE ACCIDENT.—On Wednesday last, at J. F. Williams' Saw Mill, near Martha Furnace. A son of R. J. Kelly's fell with his entire weight upon his left arm, thereby fracturing both bones of the fore arm and dislocating the wrist. The sufferer about sixteen years of age, was attended by Dr. Russell of Unionville and is doing well.

COURT HOUSE.—The Commissioners, are doing a good thing, by way of surprising the Court House, with a coat of fresh paint, and Calamine. It adds very much to its appearance, giving it a beauty and freshness that really surpasses its original newness. The Court House both in the interior and exterior now presents a view, that is no disgrace but rather an honor to the county, and reflects great credit upon its custodians, the County Commissioners.

BROCKERHOFF HOUSE.—We announce to the people of Bellefonte and the traveling public generally, that this excellent House has changed hands and is being refitted and furnished throughout with new furniture. D. Johnson & Son's, are the new Proprietors. They come to us with the reputation of first class men, honest and upright, and as understanding their business in every particular. The Hotel is in the central part of the city, near the Court House, and if well kept as we believe it will be, will never want for guests. We wish them success. The House will be open for court week. Mr. Johnson himself will be here next Monday.

COLLECTING.—The Editor of this paper will be in Gregg, Potter and Harris townships this week, on a collecting tour, and taking notes. Keep your hands on your pocket books until you see him coming, and then please shell out the green backs. We will give you a first class paper, if you will only keep us in funds, bring or send them to us, and not keep the Editor traveling to hunt it up. Moreover traveling is expensive. Our accounts against each of you are small, you can easily meet them with a little effort. Those of our readers who are not called upon by the Editor, are cordially invited to call at our office during the August court.

MILESBURG ITEMS.—Capt. Martin Dolan, Proprietor of the Curtin House, is not only a first class landlord, but he is a scientific gardner. We visited his gardens Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4 & 5, not long since, and we have no hesitancy in saying we never saw gardens freer from weeds. His corn, cabbage, tomatoes, potatoes, grapes &c., are not excelled by any we have seen in our collecting tours through the county. We will call soon again. The Editors of the REPUBLICAN join in thanking you for hospitalities received, and while we may have been a little tardy in our acknowledgement, the recollection of your kindness was green in our memories.

Caleb Essington, axe manufacturer, Milesburg Pa., has a very superior engine, and a most complete axe manufactory. He is a very clever man, a superior mechanic himself and employs none but the best of workmen, and is receiving more orders every day than he is able to fill. He will enlarge his shops soon.

A. T. Boggs who keeps the Grocery and Provision Store, boots, shoes, tobacco, segars &c., near the hotel of T. M. Hall, Milesburg Pa., is doing a splendid business. His customers are increasing every day. He advertises in the REPUBLICAN and attends to his business closely. Hence his success.

J. M. Green, Proprietor of the Milesburg Foundry has just commenced in good earnest the manufacture of Wagon Thimble Skeins. While he intends to make a specialty of the wagon thimble skeins, he holds himself in readiness at all times to all kinds of castings and work done in other shops in this country and some kinds not done in any other shop in the county. Mr. Green understands his business in all its departments. Success, say we.

FIRE.—On last Saturday night about ten o'clock a fire broke out in the Foundry and Machine shops near the Phenix Mills in this place. The buildings belonged to W. F. Reynolds; but was rented by Isaac Haupt. The machinery and all the inside fixtures belonged to Mr. Haupt. We understand that the buildings were pretty nearly covered by insurance, so that the loss of Maj. Reynolds will not be very heavy. Mr. Haupt's loss is, from all we can learn about $2,500 being insured for only $1,000. It is very strange that our friend Isaac Haupt—active and energetic insurance agent as he is, should have so little upon his own property. A little house close to the foundry, belonging to Mr. Reynolds, and occupied by Moses Kline, was also burned. Mr. Kline and family got out safe and saved, in a damaged condition, however, nearly all the furniture &c. Mr. Kline was not insured.

Messrs. Schroyer & Son, the enterprising furniture men, who have their store in the Bush House, suffered heavily. They had moved their shop about two weeks since, from the basement of the Bush House, to a room in the foundry building. They lost nearly all their tools and a large quantity of lumber.

The wind was to the south west, and but for this fact all the houses East of the fire must have been consumed by the devouring element. As it was, it was a terrific fire, illumenating the heavens for miles around.

OUR fellow townsman D. I Pruner will soon have the satisfaction of knowing that his Horse Shoe Making Machine is a complete success. We hope he may reap the reward his genious and industry deserve. The following letter written by the gentlemen who are making the machine speaks of it in the highest terms.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 9th, 1871.

John Heffer, P. B. Wilson and others, Bellefonte, Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN: At the request of Mr. Pruner, we write you to say that we have the leading features of his Horse Shoe Machine, drawn out and many of the details completed in full size drawings.

We have simplified the machine very much and got it we think into a very complete practicable shape, and very strong.

The machinery is calculated to give a pressure of one hundred tons in swedging the shoe and the framing designs to withstand a pressure three hundred and sixty tons with safety on a direct strain.

The diameter of the main shaft is eight (8) inches.

The dies are all of cast steel, and everything made as we think best for the purpose.

We now have more confidence in its success than ever before.

Yours, &c.,

CHAMBERS, BRO. & CO.,
Iron Foundry and Machine Works,
3001 Chestnut St., Phila.

THE following complimentary notice of our fellow-townsman Dr. J. D. Wingate, we clip from the Carbondale Advance:

"Dr. Wingate, Dental Surgeon, recently of Bellefonte, Pa., has located in town, and opened an office in the Wilson Building, corner of Church and Salem streets. Dr. Wingate is President of the Susquehanna Dental Association, and has the highest testimonial as to character and Professional skill. He has fitted up his office, the Parlor of the building spoken of, in fine taste and style, much superior to anything in that line before seen in our town, and has a large assortment of teeth and other stock needed in his business. We believe him to be worthy of a large patronage, and that his skill and thorough experience in all branches of Dental work will secure it.

We have no hesitancy in recommending Dr. Wingate to the people of Carbondale and vicinity, as one of the best Dentists in the country.

UNIONVILLE, Aug. 14th 1871.

MESSRS EDITORS.—Our usually quiet village on Saturday last, was to some extent in a state of excitement. It was a gala day, and one that will long be remembered by the little folks. The Sabbath schools of this place, Plum Grove, and Dicks Run, held a Picnic in the grove of Wm. P. Fisher, just below town. The grounds were beautifully shaded by tall and stately hickory and maple, and the breeze as it floated softly amid their branches, seemed to whisper peace and good will to all assembled. The Bald Eagle, too, flowed gently by the scene of merriment, and her clear ripples, we thought bade us welcome to her verdant banks. Long before the assembling of the schools at the M. E. Church, wagons and buggies were busy discharging the loads of good things, calculated to refresh the "inner man." At 10 o'clock the procession of near two hundred scholars and teachers formed with the Unionville Drum Corps in advance. It was a pleasing scene on which to gaze. As soon as they arrived upon the grounds, the sport began, the little ones ran hither and thither. Old folks were once more young, and all were merry. About 1 P. M., dinner was announced, and Messrs Editors, it would have done your stomachs good to have been there. There was everything nice and palatable in the greatest profusion. After the repast was over, Sabbath schools songs were sung, plays were inaugurated, swinging in operation, and frequently those we took to be lovers would stroll off by themselves and there enjoy themselves in talking of their present enjoyment and future prospects. The happy band dispersed about 6 o'clock well pleased. Not one thing occurred to mar the pleasure of any one, and all thanked Mr. Fisher for the means he furnished to make so many happy.

Yesterday the Unionville Cadets, Capt. Vanvalin, were requested to attend the funeral of Thomas Wilson, which took place at Williams, grave yard, near Martha Furnace. The young man was one of great promise and was to have been married to a very estimable young lady, on Thursday next. He was killed at Huntingdon, by being run over by a passing train. He followed the fortunes of one of the Penna. Regiments during the war, and his last request was, that he be buried by the honors of war. Accordingly a detachment of 23 of the cadets went up and attended to the last sad rites. The funeral was largely attended. After all was over, Mr. J. I. Thompson invited the Cadets to his home at Martha Furnace, where the boys found a magnificent supper prepared for them. It was a pleasure to them entirely unexpected. Mr. Thompson and lady can rest assured that, that act of kindness was deeply felt and appreciated, and all thank them kindly for the hospitality extended.

OCCASIONAL.

For the REPUBLICAN.

MR. EDITOR.—A melancholy casualty occurred on Friday, the 11 inst., which has cast a gloom over our neighborhood, occurrence that brings forcibly to our minds, that in the midst of life we are in death. The particulars of this sad affair are as follows;—Mr. Thomas Wilson, son of Mrs. Eliza Ammerman (formerly Wilson) of Martha Furnace, being employed by the Penna. R. R. Co., as brakeman, on a train running between Huntingdon and Harrisburg. On the evening above stated after arriving at Huntingdon he jumped on the Locomotive of another train, to go up town on an errand. On arriving at his destination—he jumped from the Locomotive, alighting on the east track—and immediately in front of another train that was in motion. The Locomotive and several cars passed over him, mangling his body in a horrible manner—his head being mashed, and one leg severed from the body. He was otherwise badly cut and bruised. Of course death was instantaneous. The body was decently clothed, put into a neat coffin, and sent home to his heart-broken mother. Having been a soldier in the Union Army during the rebellion, he was buried with the honors of the war on Sabbath evening, the Unionville Cadets participating. The funeral was attended by a large concourse of sympathising friends. Mr. Wilson was a consistant member of the M. E. Church—a very worthy young man, respected and beloved by all who knew him.

LOCUST.

THE "Co. Normal" is in full blast, and as far as we can learn, is in a fine and prosperous condition. Under the supervision of such men as the County Superintendent and Prof. H. Meyer, it must and will meet with success, and accomplish the ends for which said school has been established. About 60 teachers are in attendance, but the amount will be near 100, when all are in.

SNOW SHOE ITEMS.—We paid a visit a short time since to Snow Shoe in company with Jas. H. Rankin, Esq., but for reasons which we need not explain, we will postpone our general article of the mines &c., until some future time, and confine ourselves to a few items and first.

We put up at that excellent Hotel—the Washington House, of which J. A. Sankey is Proprietor. Mr. Sankey is a very clever man well suited for his business. He spares no expense to make his guests comfortable which makes it really and truly a good place for travelers or visitors.

George Shirer, formerly of Milesburg, has an extensive wagon and carriage shop. He is one of the best mechanics in the county, as is well attested by all the buggies and carriages exhibited by him at our county fair. He is doing a good business and does not complain of hard times. Mrs. Shirer keeps a neat and well assorted fancy and confectionery Store.

The Snow Shoe House, P. Nolan Proprietor, is also one of the institutions of Snow Shoe. He is a clever landlord and appears to be doing well.

Samuel Boyer than whom, few cleverer men exist, built himself a house, aided by two carpenters in 11½ days, from cellar to garret, and moved into it with his family. Who but S. Boyer, Esq., could put things through in this way? The house was 24 by 16 feet, two stories. He has 60 turkies, and 200 heads of as pretty cabbage as we have ever seen. We mention this fact because some people are under the impression that Snow Shoe is a poor place for vegetables. We took dinner with Samuel and his amiable lady, and what a dinner! No hotel in the country can beat it.

Samuel Boyer killed a calf at four weeks old, which weighed 112 pounds clean meat.

John Uzzle, one of Snow Shoe's cleverest and best citizens, has, just above the town, a beautiful farm of 100 acres. It is level and he is getting it into good condition. His wheat was excellent, and he has 10 acres of as good oats as we ever saw in either Nittany or Pennsvalley. Mr. Uzzle, in our presence, counted one head of oats, which contained 184 grains. Who can beat this? He has some 50 or 60 bee scaps, and told us more about the nature and instincts of the "little busy bee" than we ever knew.

We visited the well assorted store of N. Bowers, and was pleased to learn that he was doing a large and safe business. Everybody nearly in Centre county knows "Nick Bowers" and they will be pleased to learn that although he lives right in the lumber country he is out of the woods financially and rising fast to fame and fortune. May success attend him is our sincere wish. He deserves it.

The acting Post Master is J. H. Crisman. He is an excellent young man, energetic and persevering. He and his father have a good store and are doing we suppose about all the business they wish to do, or care about doing as they do not advertise in any of the county papers. It is a clever firm and deserves success.

We also interviewed the store of Messrs. May, Loeb & Co. This too is a good firm, untiring and wide-awake at all times. This firm informed us that they never let their assortment run down. They have spent money liberally on job work, but like the other stores of the same place, we think they stand in their own light by not advertising more liberally. This is business, gentlemen. "No man lighteth a candle and putteth it under a bushel."

The Catholic Church in Snow Shoe is a good frame building with school room in basement. The congregation is small, but it is, we believe, the only church edifice in the place. Why have our Methodist brethren failed to rear a church edifice in this pleasant village? Have they ceased pioneering?

The Railroad Depot is built in the centre of Main street. It is not in the right place. It is a very respectable building; but it would be an eye-sore to us if we lived here.

Just opposite the depot is the Railroad House, Robert Haines, Proprietor. It is full to over flowing—so full that we could not get through to see, or learn much about it. Better luck next time, Robert, perhaps.

The residence of John S. Sommerville, Esq., Superintendent of the company's coal mines, is, we believe, the best private residence in the town. Mr. Sommerville is one of our most indefatigable citizens. He not only Superintends the mines, but he is farming four farms besides his own. His crops of grain, oats and corn are remarkably good, grass not so good. He has some 38 head of mules at work on the farms. On his own farm he has a beautiful barn three stories high. The entrance for the unloading of hay or grain is at the top of the third story. We know of none like it in the county except perhaps the Farm School barn.

A short distance west of Snow Shoe is the beautiful farm of Meese Gunsallis. He owns 100 acres of beautiful level land which he has in an excellent state of cultivation. We think from the appearance of things, that he could teach Horace Greely more than he knows about farming.

The meadow on the old McMasters place cleaned up and enriched as it has been by Mr. Sommerville, is we, think, one of the most beautiful we have ever seen. Agriculture in Snow Shoe is looking up, and the farmers here will soon be able to supply the lumbermen with all the hay they want.

A little farther west, is the residence and shoe manufactory of our particular friend Squire H. D. Yeagher. He is a strong Democrat, but nevertheless a good shoemaker. We have known the squire for many years.

Immediately North of this is the splendid farm of H. Y. Lucas, Esq. The fences are good, the land well tilled, if we may judge by the fields of oats and corn. The best field of corn we have seen this year is one on Mr. Lucas, farm. We are sorry we did not find him at home. We are sure we would have been the happy recipient of some venison, if not apple dumplings, for Sammy is a good Republican and knows how to live well, to do right, to hunt and fish, and like John Uzzle, Esq., knows how to keep bees to make them pay. When we come again, we will, with his help, catch a deer—not a blind one—as the law will not interfere. This law, by the way, should be repealed.

Near the bridge or rail road crossing, is the residence and eating house of our former fellow townsman James Reading. He is a very clever man—an out-and-out Democrat and has been elected road Supervisor of the township. Mr. Reading will get along no matter where he goes; but we fear there is little hope of his ever becoming a Republican. It would do him good to come over, as it would hundreds of others, if he and they could only see. We think the eyes of some of them hereabouts are being opened.

Edward A. Smith, a high-minded honest man, who has broken himself down by hard and constant labor, who has been idle for nearly a year, from disease and pain, has just opened an eating house and confectionery in the town of Snow Shoe. Mr. Smith is a Democrat, and from what we can learn has been very badly treated by his party. The truth is palpable however, that the best workers in any party are generally the most pooriy paid, and meanly treated.

The B. & S. S. R. R., is in good order, perfectly safe, no accident as yet, we believe, ever having happened on it. There is no better managed road in the State, and for this the company is indebted to the brains and untiring industry of Daniel Rhoads, Superintendent of the road.

The Railroad Company have five coal mines opened. These mines are worth millions of money, and when these exhausted, thirty years hence, they have plenty more of the same kind left. But of this, more anon.

MILESBURG IRON WORKS UNION SABBATH SCHOOL.—The anticipated pic-nic and celebration of the Milesburg Iron Works U. S. S., came off on the 29th ult. Extensive preparations had been made, but on the morning of the celebration the sky was overcast with louring clouds and some gentle showers fell to revive nature. This, for the time being, seemed to indicate a general disappointment, but by the time the trains East arrived, which brought the Martial Band that was to enliven the exercises of the day, the clouds dispersed and the luminary of day shone forth with its wanted splendor where, of a sudden, could be seen the young, the middle aged and the old, treding with hasty steps to the place of meeting. In a short time the shrill whistle of the fife and the ratteling of drums announced the approach of the procession, numbering some two hundred. Bearing with them the honored emblem of our might—the American flag—with many appropriate Banners. Arriving on the ground which had been previously prepared, after some preliminaries, a brief speech was made by the Superintendent. The committee proceeded to discharge their duty—that of setting the table—when their task was done, behold there was a table, groaning under the rich viands, consisting of an endless variety of roasts and every thing to tempt the appetite. Dinner call was next in order, at which time all marched to the table which by the way was about eighty-feet long. After partaking of a hearty repast, various amusements were participated in, all enjoying themselves freely.

The Rev. Stover, of the Evangelical Association, was present adorning the head of the table, and evoking heaven's choicest blessing on the praiseworthy enterprise—the Sunday School. The Martial Band was handsomly remunerated for there services. Archy Bathurst announced that a collection would be taken up for that purpose when in a few minutes a purse of ten dollars was raised and presented to the Leader of the Band, which is to be appropriated to purchasing them a flag. The School is in a flourishing condition and compares favorably with any in the county.

JAMES R. BATHURST,
Superintendent.

FOR SALE.—Great Bargains are now to be obtained by persons wishing to purchase first rate farms. One farm upon which is erected a good brick house and brick grist mill is offered at $21,000 on ten years time. Another farm of 150 acres in the same neighborhood at $12,000, eight years time. And still another for $14,000, eight years, in which to make the payments. For further particulars inquire at the REPUBLICAN office. v3n27-ts.
